

LE PETIT COMPTOIR TAKE-AWAY DESSERT BAR AT THE RITZ PARIS

STARTING JUNE 2nd, 2020

Starting on June 2nd, the Ritz Paris will delight gourmets of all ages with take-aways by Head Pastry Chef François Perret.

At an elegant counter located at the hotel's entrance on the Place Vendôme, customers will find a selection of favorite Ritz Paris pastries: there's the essential marbled cake in a lemon-tea version for the summer, the mille-feuille with red fruit, the delicious strawberry tarte and François Perret's marbled pastries, which have a cult following far and wide.

To mark the premiere of the Netflix France series "The Chef in a Truck", available starting June 10th, 2020, dessert lovers will also find American pastries revisited by François Perret in his California food truck tour, including the S'more (a puff pastry with chocolate ice cream, coated with crisp chocolate and caramelized torched marshmallow) and the Taco (delicate, crisp honeycombs blanketed in a rich mousse of fromage blanc with caramelized pistachios). Guaranteed love at first bite!

To savor the gourmet experience at home, the Ritz Paris also offers take-out madeleines in beautiful signature boxes, homemade jams and spreads for gourmet summer dining, and the new “French Pastry at the Ritz Paris” cookbook by François Perret.

About the Netflix series “The Chef in a Truck”

In March 2019, François Perret rose to a challenge from the director Eric Nebot, left his brigade and pastry laboratory on the Place Vendôme in Paris, and hit the road behind the wheel of a “Ritz Paris” food truck to travel the back roads of California for two weeks and seek out farmers and street food lovers. His mission? To reinterpret classic American dessert recipes with a French accent.

A “feel good” series that’s full of gourmet revelations, sharing and emotion, from the kitchens of the Ritz Paris to the back roads of California.

Starting June 10th on Netflix France – 6 episodes of 26 minutes each.
